

Chopper: The Screenplay

FADE IN:

EXT. SOMEWHERE IN SOUTH VIETNAM - CHOPPER WRECKAGE - DAY

A nineteen year old US ARMY SOLDIER lies in Vietnam War-era helicopter wreckage entangled with harsh green jungle.

He's in sweat-soaked jungle fatigues with half his face burnt and bleeding and one eye swollen shut.

The Soldier stares helplessly as the barrel of an M16 rifle enters view.

A MAN'S VOICE speaks with a heavy American accent.

MAN'S VOICE (O.S.)
Time to do this world a favor.

A hand fingers the trigger when--

FADE TO BLACK:

THE SOUNDS OF A JET ENGINE ON A RUNWAY

EXT. INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT - DAY

A present-day commercial jet taxis down a runway on a cold overcast morning.

INT. COMMERCIAL JET - PRESENT DAY - DAY

A modern interior complete with all the modern bells and whistles.

A cabin full of mostly older VETERANS ages sixty-five and up, some wearing caps and pins branded with their military branch, gather their things.

A tough-looking and foul sixty-nine year old man with a patch over an eye sleeps through the commotion.

This is EITEN CAMACHO.

A friendly and flamboyant MALE FLIGHT ATTENDANT gently shakes him.

MALE FLIGHT ATTENDANT
Sir. Time to wake up. We've arrived... Sir.
